At Least Four Bands Will Participate; Mayor Cady Proclaims Event

Big Halloween celebration, with a parade including bands and all the trimmings which go with the Halloween season, was planned Friday night by Circleville merchants and Recreation Department leaders.

The celebration will be staged next Thursday evening, with the parade moving at 8 o'clock. Four high school bands including Circleville, Ashville, Williamsport and Walnut Township will be asked to perform. Also included in the parade will be hundreds of costumed individuals who will vie for prizes amounting to more than $100 in merchandise orders.

Plans for the celebration were made at a Chamber of Commerce meeting when officials of the WPA Recreation Department outlined a program which was accepted wholeheartedly by members of the Chamber.

Robert E. Verbeck, Columbus, recreation training director, and Marvin Hill and Gene Boring, local recreation leaders, will be in charge of the program. Assisting them will be a Chamber of Commerce committee including Dan McClain, chairman, Leslie May and George Griffith.

Classes Set Up

Following the parade, the Halloween committee has made plans for costumed individuals to perform, with valuable merchandise prizes offered in various classifications. Tentative plans also were made for a street dance to be staged following the parade. Merchants are planning Halloween sales to be held in connection with the festivities.

To make the celebration official, Mayor W. B. Cady has issued a proclamation declaring next Thursday night Halloween Night in Circleville. The proclamation reads:

Whereas the Chamber of Commerce and the Recreation Department of the city of Circleville have planned a Halloween parade and celebration to be held on the streets of Circleville, I do hereby declare Thursday night, October 30, Halloween Night in Circleville and urge all citizens to participate in the festivities.

NYA Youths Will Start Tree Planting At Park

Circleville's Park Board met at the Ted Lewis Recreation Center Friday afternoon and made plans for its fall and winter program.

Next week, National Youth Administration boys who have been working on the grounds all summer will begin a tree planting program which park officials believe will add much to the beautification of the grounds. Most of the trees will be secured from the Renick Dunlap farm near Kingston.

Numerous improvements have been made at the park this summer, and the Park Board hopes to make even more next spring. Since the NYA began work there, the grounds have been cleaned, leveled and graded, tile has been placed which park board officials believe have completely solved the drainage problem.

A double terrace has been built along the east end of the grounds with a single terrace along the north side. Near Hargus creek, the levee has been cleaned and leveled and the trees have been pruned.

Recently grass seed was sown and the grass now coming up promises to check erosion during the winter months. The summer's work has seen two ball diamonds built, one in the north west corner of the field and one near the center. An additional diamond may be constructed next spring, park officials report.

A new fence has been placed along the south side of the park, an outdoor oven has been built and placed along the levee near the creek and drinking water has been piped to the grounds.

Park officials hope that next year may see additional pieces of playground equipment placed on the grounds, picnic tables and a shelter house built, tennis courts completed and drives and roadways built through the grounds. During Friday afternoon's inspection, the Park Board made plans to place tools and equipment there in winter storage. The board recommended that the city service department be placed in charge of their household budgets.

Authorities declared British planes bombed the 1,530-ton French steamer Divona while it was transporting "merchandise" from the port of Tunis to another Tunisian port.

Eight members of the crew were killed and three injured, it was stated.

MILK PRICE SOARS TO 17 CENTS IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 — New York City housewives today looked forward—none too happily—to the prospect of another burden on their household budgets. Beginning tomorrow the price of home delivered milk will rise another half cent to 17 cents a quart. This is the highest figure since the post World War price of 18 cents a quart.

Milk concerns attributed the new increase to increased payments to farmers and higher wages for employees.

Three Zanesville Youths Escape Without Serious Injury Friday Night

Three Zanesville school boys escaped serious injury Friday night about 10 o'clock when the automobile in which they were riding left the road and overturned on Route 23 three miles south of Circleville.

One of the youths, Leland Kirkbride Jr., 19, 715 Orchard Street, was treated in Berger Hospital for severe face lacerations. The driver, Jack Fox, 17, 501 Van Horn Avenue, and another companion, Jack Hufford, 18, Zanesville Route 4, escaped with only slight cuts and bruises. All three youths were taken to the hospital by a passerby.

The boys, members of the Zanesville High School band, were returning home from the Zanesville-Chillicothe football game when the accident happened. Fox told Sheriff Charles Radcliff that he had lost control of the car when he had glanced to one side. The car, which was traveling north, went off the right side of the pavement into the ditch, then jumped back onto the road and overturned several times, the sheriff said. The car was almost demolished.

Police today sought a woman thought possibly to be childless but with a "mother fixation"—as the kidnaper of eight-weeks-old Kenneth A. McLean Jr.

The baby was taken from his carriage in front of a Pittsburgh department store yesterday afternoon while his mother was inside shopping. Witnesses told Police Chief D. J. Godley that a "woman in black," about 40, abducted the baby.

Last night the heartbroken father, Kenneth A. McLean, a machinist, broadcast a dramatic radio appeal to the kidnaper to give the baby a prescribed formula and asked that the abductor contact the striking parents through the radio station.

President Flays Hostage Killing

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—President Roosevelt today condemned in strenuous language the current Nazi tactics of "slaughtering" 50 or 100 innocent hostages in revenge for acts of violence on individual Germans in occupied countries.

"Those who would collaborate with Hitler or try to appease him cannot ignore this ghastly warning," President Roosevelt declared in a formal White House statement.

The chief executive declared that these "frightful" acts of "brutality" were the acts of desperate men who knew they were fighting a losing battle, and he warned that the seeds of hatred were being sown which sometime will bring retribution.

FIVE U. S. ARMY PLANES MISSING ON WEST COAST

Units Of Pursuit Ship Flight Lost During Routine Journey

EDMONTON, Alta., Oct. 25—A United States Army plane, due here from Alaska yesterday, was unreported early today. The plane was said to be en route to Washington, D. C., but its type and personnel were not given. Hourly radio calls were sent out for it.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 25—Vast air search for five Army pursuit planes and their pilots was organized by the U. S. Army Air Corps today while an Army board of inquiry convened to determine the cause of a Douglas B-18 bomber crash which carried its crew of five to a flaming death.

The missing planes were units of a flight of 19 P-40 pursuit ships, en route from their 57th Pursuit Squadron Base at Windsor Locks, Conn., to maneuvers in Washington and Oregon.

Of the 19, only five planes reached their destination at McClellan Field, Sacramento.

Two were known to have crashed with one pilot last seen parachuting to earth at an altitude of 15,000 feet over the rugged Tehachapi Mountains. A second crash was reported in the San Joaquin Valley.

THIRD AMERICAN EAGLE SQUADRON AIDING BRITISH

LONDON, Oct. 25—Existence of a third American Eagle Squadron of volunteer fighter pilots was revealed today after King George VI and Queen Elizabeth reviewed the first wave of airmen developed in the huge British Empire air training scheme. During the inspection the new group of American pilots met and chatted with the king and queen.

Also present at the review was a United States army signal corps mission, which has come to England to learn how to locate enemy bombers by radio. Another group of Americans belong to the Civilian Technical Corps.

Foes Hurling Great Force At Defenders Despite Size Of Losses

BERLIN, Oct. 25—Capture of Kharkov, strategic Soviet industrial stronghold in the Ukraine by German forces, was announced by the high command today.

A war communiqué issued by Chancellor Hitler's military headquarters said the city had been occupied yesterday.

Capture of Kharkov culminated a Nazi drive eastward into the Ukraine which began after the fall of Kiev, some 250 miles west of Kharkov.

LONDON, Oct. 25—Tremendous battles along Moscow's crescent-shaped front and at the approaches to Rostov—gateway to the Caucasus—were announced by the Russian high command today.

A new war communiqué, issued at noon and broadcast by the Moscow radio indicated the fighting outside Moscow was still roaring in approximately the same positions as yesterday—the areas around Mozhaisk and Maloyaroslavets.

In the south, where the Germans still are pressing a heavy offensive against Rostov, battles roared in the regions of Nazi-held Taganrog on the northern shore of the sea of Azov and at Makeevka, about 100 miles northwest of Rostov.

The war communiqué said:

"During last night our troops were engaged in fighting the enemy in the directions of Taganrog and Makeevka in the Donets basin and in the regions of Mozhaisk and Maloyaroslavets."

Previous reports indicated the battle for possession of Moscow was see-sawing back and forth. The Russians admitted new Nazi advances on the southwestern sector of the front defending the capital.

The Russian (Tass) news agency reported:

"The Germans are flinging fresh reserves into the battle for Moscow and are making feverish efforts on the three main roads leading to the capital."

Heavy Punches Continue

COMMUNISTS TO GET BIG SHARE OF OHIO ESTATE

BUCYRUS, Oct. 25—A Crawford County Common Pleas Court jury today had decided that a contested document actually was the last will and testament of Bishop William Montgomery Brown, of Galion, who died four years ago.

The jury's decision means that a big share of the $350,000 estate, most of it in Cleveland real estate, will go to the Communist party, and that $5,000 will go for the continued circulation of his book, "Communism and Christianity."

Bishop Brown was ousted some years ago from the Episcopal Church in the South on a charge of heresy. The will had been contested by Louis M. Ducommun, a nephew who was not mentioned in it, who filed suit against Edward Bushnell, the executor, on the grounds

JAPANESE SLAP KNOX ASSERTION

"Belliscose," Declares Tokyo; Peace In Pacific Now Up To Uncle Sam

TOKYO, Oct. 25—The official Japanese (Domei) news agency took sharp issue today with what it called the "belliscose" statement of American Navy Secretary Frank Knox that a clash between the United States and Japan is "inevitable" if Nippon pursues a course of expansion.

"Unofficial but well informed quarters," said Domei, "assert such inconceivable utterances by a responsible Washington leader do not smooth the course of the Japanese-American negotiations."

The outcome of the talks is up to the United States. The present situation is the result of the United States' double-dealing with Japan."

Domei reiterated Japanese contention that "The United States is now the power to decide whether the Pacific will be peaceful or not."

THREE TO SHARE HUGE ESTATE OF OIL LAND OWNER

SAPULPA, Okla., Oct. 25—A fortune running into millions of dollars today appeared destined for division among a widow and two packing plant workers.

The fortune, including more than $7,000,000 in cash, was left by Lete Kolvin, an Indian woman who was allotted a quarter section of land by the government and then struck oil on it.

District Judge C. O. Beavers held yesterday that the estate should be divided among Mrs. Ozora Lee, 65, of Claremore, Okla., and Willie and Floyd Mayweather of Kansas City, Mo.

RECORD 'CHUTE LEAP PROVIDES IMPORTANT DATA

CHICAGO, Oct. 25—Arthur H. Starnes' "free fall" parachute jump from a height of more than 5½ miles today was studied by scientists and military experts for data which may improve the technique of parachute troops.

Setting an unofficial world's record, the 43-year-old Starnes leaped from a plane at 31,400 feet and opened the first of two parachutes strapped to him at 2,100 feet. He landed safely after opening the second parachute at 1,500 feet.

The veteran 'chutist thus "fell free" for 29,300 feet, approximately 5½ miles. This was the longest delayed jump ever recorded by the National Aeronautical Association, although there are no official records for such jumps.

Most significant from the military point of view was the speed with which Starnes fell and the fact that he retained consciousness—"except perhaps for a second or two"—throughout the hazardous fall.

From the time he left the plane until he opened the first parachute, 116 seconds elapsed. Starnes required another two minutes to reach the ground—three minutes, 56 seconds for the entire jump. His greatest rate of fall was 190 miles an hour.

Military authorities pointed out that data obtained from the jump may be used to increase the speed with which parachute troops descend, thus providing less of a target for the enemy.

ASHVILLE CORN TROPHY GOES TO DARBYVILLE MAN

C. M. Beatty Carries Off Honors; Bands, Others Have Parts

C. M. Beatty over on the farm in Darbyville territory, won first prize, a cup, for having the best ear of corn in the show. Mrs. Beatty had on exhibition at The Hott Bakery room, a very beautiful bouquet of dahlias. Mr. Beatty, it is recalled, was once a purebred chicken fancier and exhibited in the local show some fine Leghorn stock.

The Corn Festival is getting better all the time. Circleville's Senior High School band with most all of the town down there, was here Friday evening. And if action meant anything "all were having a good time". County Treasurer, Robert Colville and Dan McClain were the directing heads of how and where, acting as Generalissimos, and did a fine job of it.

Prof. Zaenglein, teacher and directing head of this fine bunch of youngsters, was one among them doing his part, left handed though, we noticed. Bob Colville, who lives Pumpkin Show most every day of the year, had a nicely printed banner carried at the head of the band with this inscription: "We want you to attend the 1942 Pumpkin Show". And we at least hope to be there.

And this splendid high school band was not all there was to it, as bands go. The V. F. W. band, Fred Hines directing, gave an hours' concert up "on the corner" preceding the appearance of the County Seat youngsters. "Our youngsters" we call 'em, because we have a lot of our school kiddies in this band. Among those in this organization we met a Mr. Faughnan of Stoutsville, here because he likes the band and especially his big tuba. Pointed out his son who was doing a good job drum majoring. But our Barbara Campbell, with her new majorette stunts, stole the whole show in this line. This Misses Smith and Bowers are seasoned pastmasters in this line.

Farming in Southern Ohio

BY THOMAS E. BEERY

Buying A Used Farm Implement

While you often get a very good bargain in a used farm implement, it is always wise to stop bidding on "half price", a thrifty farmer points out. "Even then it is a good plan to look the machine over and to see how much it is worn," he advises.

If it is a mowing machine, and it is not cutting very well, even when the sections are sharp, it may be because of a worn pitman bar head, that is easily replaced, or the cutting bar may be out of line. Both are easily remedied, by making the necessary replacements of the worn parts, lining up the sickle bar, and making an adjustment so that the sections stop in the center of the guard plates, at the right time.

Some Very Good Farming

I recently saw some very good farming done by Irvin Hollingsworth, Martinsville, Ohio, R. F. D. on a 300 acre farm. He had just finished picking 2110 bushels of corn from 19 acres, and the day before I called, the wheat seeding on the field was finished. How is that for coupling up the gap between the corn and the wheat crop? You couldn't do that without a corn picker, in this day of farm labor shortage.

A Corn And Hog Farm

This is chiefly a corn and hog farm, but beef cattle are kept to use the large amount of roughage produced. Young cattle are shipped in and some are raised on the farm. Mr. Hollingsworth prefers Herefords and buys good ones. He says he can do better with them than with the lower grades, even if many of them often finish well in the feed lot.

Woodlot Improvement

That it is possible to improve the timber stand on a farm has been well demonstrated by George A. Lockard, Chillicothe, Ohio. R. F. D. Mr. Lockard became interested in improving the timber stand on his farm many years ago, and by following such approved forestry practices as taking out dead or "Wolf trees", as they are sometimes called, and thinning the stand where needed to be done, he has been able to greatly improve his timber crop.

"I became woods minded" is the way Mr. Lockard expressed himself at a forestry meeting in southern Ohio this fall, where he was asked to tell of his experience. He cut about 12,000 feet of cherry and walnut timber on his farm, and I understand he has a house finished in some of this native timber, that is well worth seeing.

Other Varieties

Jonathan and Stayman Wine-saps are the other most important varieties in the orchard, that are always in strong demand.

Marketing

This is done by truck to merchants and other customers in southern Ohio. Many apples are also sold to an automobile trade that calls at the orchard.

Brood Sows In Timber

While forestry men will tell you that brood sows in timber is sometimes not very good for the lot of young trees, you see a lot of them in the woods of southern Ohio, at this season of the year, and they are doing well. We have a big acorn crop and hickory nuts are plentiful, so you often see hogs feeding under the acorn and hickory nut trees.

The little pigs get out in the timber, on very chilly days, too, instead of spending so much time in the bed, as they may do on cold days.

pans as a result of Alcoa's short-sighted monopoly.

However, RFCzar Jones has just negotiated a contract with Alcoa whereby he hands them several million dollars to build new aluminum plants, and Alcoa, with absolutely no expense to itself, builds three plants at TVA, Bonneville and Massina, N. Y., then writes its own ticket regarding their management and operation.

Jesse Jones, living in the days of Hooverism and Andrew Mellonism, not only approved, but applauded the Old Deal contract.

ICKES BUTTERS JESSE

At present a battle royal is being waged between Jones and Harold Ickes over this deal, which illustrates the old deal philosophy of the Secretary of Commerce.

It was Ickes, not Jones, whom the Aluminum Corporation first approached regarding the building of new plants. Bernard Baruch brought Arthur F. Davis, head of the company, to see Ickes. Davis cocked his head on one side, told Ickes what a ferocious man he was and said he wanted government financing for an aluminum plant which would get electric power from Bonneville Dam, which Ickes supervises.

Davis said he would build any plant the Government wanted and would manage it for the Government. Ickes replied he would be glad to cooperate, and sent Davis to Jesse Jones to get the money.

Then, knowing Jesse's proclivity for trading Uncle Sam's shirt away to any corporations coming down the pike, Ickes made it a point to see his Cabinet colleague and good-naturedly prod him into driving a good deal for the Government.

"You're just the man to negotiate this contract," Ickes told Jones. "You're tough. You can drive a real bargain."

The Secretary of Commerce smiled with condescending pride.

"You've got the same qualities, Harold," he purred. "You just haven't had the experience."

In the end, the RFCzar proved about as tough as the salmon eggs spawned at Mr. Ickes' Bonneville Dam. And the Secretary of Interior, suspecting this, warned Jesse, verbally and in writing, that he wanted to see a copy of the contract between Alcoa and the Government, in advance. Ickes also told Jones that he wanted to see the contract in plenty of time so he wouldn't be accused of holding up national defense.

Time passed. Finally just before Ickes was leaving town for two weeks, Jesse Jones sent over the Alcoa contract. It gave the Aluminum Company everything but the kitchen sink. Ickes protested, asked that the terms be modified in favor of the Government. Later, a few modifications were made and the contract was given to Jones in the Far West.

But this time Jesse Jones and Davis had put their heads together and signed it first.

A Corn And Hog Farm

This is chiefly a corn and hog farm, but beef cattle are kept to use the large amount of roughage produced. Young cattle are shipped in and some are raised on the farm. Mr. Hollingsworth prefers Herefords and buys good ones. He says he can do better with them than with the lower grades, even if many of them often finish well in the feed lot.

ALCOA GETS ALL

Here is what they agreed to:

1. Alcoa, despite its use of Government money and Government power, was to produce only the amount of aluminum it desired. In other words, production was regulated by what it produced in its own plants, and any time it shut its own plants, it could also close down the government-owned factories.

2. The Government got no real control over aluminum prices. A fancy price formula was worked out, but since Alcoa will purchase its bauxite or raw material from itself, actually it can regulate the price.

3. The Government is to get fifteen percent of the net profits, but only after all expenses have been paid. And included in these expenses is 1/4 per pound paid to Alcoa for salaries of executives, and 1/4 a pound for various overheads.

4. The RFC takes all the financial risk and Mr. Ickes supplies cheap electric power. Thus the Aluminum Corporation, with no risk, no money advanced, is not only guaranteed its expenses, but a tremendous profit. Mr. Ickes protested. But not wanting to delay defense, he had to give in. For Cabinet colleague Jesse Jones remembered the old days when his first presidential mentor, Herbert Hoover, fought so hard against government operation of Muscle Shoals and against building Boulder Dam. And Jesse seems bent on keeping the country back in those dear old dead days of Herbert Hoover.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT TWO MILL LEVY

Editor's Note: Here are some questions and answers about the two mill levy being asked by Circleville city government to help it operating funds. A letter from R. L. Brehmer, North Court Street, is also published as a boost to the levy.

QUESTION: How would the passage of the two mill tax levy for the City of Circleville affect Berger Hospital?

ANSWER: Very materially. Like all municipal hospitals Berger Hospital is not self sustaining. Each year from three thousand to five thousand dollars must be transferred from the General Fund to the Hospital Fund to make up the difference between the receipts and expenditures. Without new taxes city council might find it impossible to provide money to make up this deficit. Then curtailments in expenditures at the hospital would have to be made which would greatly affect the efficiency of this very fine institution.

QUESTION: It has been said by many that if the voters do not pass the proposed two mill tax levy for the City of Circleville, Berger Hospital will have to be closed. Is that true?

ANSWER: That is possible. However, Council will not close the hospital as long as money can be found with which to operate. But it should be re-emphasized by all that more money must be provided to the General Fund if the high standard of the hospital is to be maintained.

Confessions Of A Voter

Like most of the voters, I felt that the necessity for the two mill levy for the City of Circleville was due to poor management on the part of our city council, but after attending several meetings I decided I owed an apology to members of our city council.

ANSWER: That is possible. However, Council will not close the hospital as long as money can be found with which to operate. But it should be re-emphasized by all that more money must be provided to the General Fund if the high standard of the hospital is to be maintained.

The real cause is legislation by the State over which the council has no control. I thought the new houses and other buildings being constructed in the city would increase taxes to an extent where no new taxes would be necessary, but I was reminded that after a new house is completed taxes are not received upon it for an average of a year and a half. On new property recently placed on the tax duplicate assessed at 150 thousand dollars the city will receive for the operation of city government only $540 yearly.

Before new homes can be built the city must first provide sewer extensions, improve streets, pay for fire hydrants and street lights. I was reminded too that this is a levy for only two years and not a permanent thing.

It is absolutely necessary that the voters support the two mill tax levy, for the City of Circleville, in order to protect our families and our homes through adequate police and fire protection; also to give health protection to our families through Berger Hospital and the health department. All of these must suffer if the voters do not support the two mill levy for the City of Circleville, and make the necessary money available.

ASHVILLE CORN TROPHY GOES TO DARBYVILLE MAN

C. M. Beatty Carries Off Honors; Bands, Others Have Parts

C. M. Beatty over on the farm in Darbyville territory, won first prize, a cup, for having the best ear of corn in the show. Mrs. Beatty had an exhibition at The Hott Bakery room, a very beautiful bouquet of dahlias. Mr. Beatty, it is recalled, was once a purebred chicken fancier and exhibited in the local show some fine Leghorn stock.

The Corn Festival is getting better all the time. Circleville's Senior High School band with most all of the town from down there, was here Friday evening. And if action meant anything "all were having a good time." County Treasurer, Robert Colville and Dan McClain were the directing heads of how and where, acting as Generalissimos, and did a fine job of it.

Prof. Zaeglein, teacher and directing head of this fine bunch of youngsters, was one among them doing his part, left handed though, we noticed. Bob Colville, who lives Pumpkin Show most every day of the year, had a nicely printed banner carried at the head of the band with this inscription: "We want you to attend the 1942 Pumpkin Show." And we at least hope to be there.

And this splendid high school band was not all there was to it, as bands go. The V. F. W. band, Fred Hines directing, gave an hours' concert up "on the corner" preceding the appearance of the County Seat youngsters. "Our youngsters" we call 'em, because we have a lot of our school kiddies in this band. Among those in this organization we met a Mr. Fausnaugh of Stoutsville, here because he likes the band and especially his big tuba. Pointed out his son who was doing a good job drum majoring. But our Barbara Campbell, with her new majorette stunts, stole the whole show in this line. This Misses Smith and Bowers are seasoned pastmasters in this line.

Civic Responsibility Regarding Alcohol ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Deut. 5:32, 33; 11:26-28; Isa. 28:1-6; Hab. 2:12.

After reading the commandments, Moses told the children of Israel: "Ye shall walk in all the ways which the Lord your God hath commanded you, that ye may live."

Behold, I set before you this day a blessing and a curse: a blessing if you obey the commandments of the Lord; and a curse if ye will not obey, Moses told his people.

"Wo to the crown of pride, and to the drunkards of Ephraim, whose glorious beauty is a fading flower." Isaiah the prophet warned the children of Israel.

"Wo to him that buildeth a town with blood, and establisheth a city by iniquity." Habakkuk, prophet of Israel, preached to his people.

Civic Responsibility Regarding Alcohol ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Deut. 5:32, 33; 11:26-28; Isa. 28:1-6; Hab. 2:12.

After reading the commandments, Moses told the children of Israel: "Ye shall walk in all the ways which the Lord your God hath commanded you, that ye may live."

Behold, I set before you this day a blessing and a curse; a blessing if you obey the commandments of the Lord; and a curse if ye will not obey, Moses told his people.

"Wo to the crown of pride, and to the drunkards of Ephraim, whose glorious beauty is a fading flower," Isaiah the prophet warned the children of Israel.

"Wo to him that buildeth a town with blood, and establisheth a city by iniquity," Habakkuk, prophet of Israel, preached to his people.

(GOLDEN TEXT—Prov. 14:34)

High School will be guests of the church at the service and special music will include a quartet composed of Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. Melvin Yates, Melvin Yates and Adrian Yates, which will sing the anthem "O Love That Wilt Not Let Me Go" by Matheson, and organ selections by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, "Morning Song" by Bairstow, "Song of India" by Rimsky-Korsakow, and Finale from "Suite in D Major" by Ashmull.

In the Sunday school, Miss Lucile Desjardines, field worker of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, will be present. Miss Desjardines is a well-known lecturer, writer and teacher. For many years she was a professor of Christian Education in Chicago. She has written numerous Vacation Bible School books and has been responsible for several units in the departmental graded materials which are used by many Sunday schools. Miss Desjardines will observe the school during the study hour

DESTRUCTION

IS THIS vast madness and slaughter now spreading through the world an inevitable repetition? Must it continue recurring at intervals, like the tides? Is it a disease from which our modern civilization cannot escape? Is it inseparable from the Age of Power into which we have come? Must we use our new mastery of the forces of Nature to destroy what we have created?

We cannot accept any such deadly fatalism. What we have to do now is to destroy the destroyers, chief of whom is the mad genius that the most powerful nation on earth, except ours, is now following to hell.

HOME-BUILDING

A NY civilian building boom is now unlikely for some time, because other kinds of building are in order and materials are limited. Nevertheless private building will not stop. There will probably be a good deal of construction, especially of private homes, and according to an expert the patterns for them in a carefully supervised area are like this:

"Insistence is upon livability, marketability and architecture. Prescription of minimum depth for a house is out — judgment now is on architectural merit.

New sections will be available upon which may be built the sort of houses people wish. For example, a smaller house on a wider lot which looks like more money than is really invested in it. In one or two places where this was tried, the result was a revival of building."

By the way, an experienced real estate and building man says it is "cockeyed" for the federal authorities in this field to make a $6,000 house the limit, because costs and standards are so varied in different parts of the country. Thus a $6,000 house in the South, he explains, corresponds to a $10,000 house in the North.

HOW MANY "BEST BOOKS"?

THE Boston Herald Book Fair, which opened its doors for a six-day show on October 21, announced as part of its display the "1,000 best books of the year." It is probably easier to pick out 1,000 best books than 100 or 10, because it makes eligible good books in so many different categories.

But 1,000 books are a good many to hold simultaneously the title of "best." They make a discouraging pile for the person who doesn't try to read all the current books but only the cream of the new output. A thousand books a year would keep the most intrepid and insatiable reader busy. It is a little more than two books a day, right around the calendar. It might be possible to skim second rate

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

JESSE JONES MOST POWERFUL

WASHINGTON—If you gave the average voter three guesses as to who is the most powerful man in the government next to Roosevelt, he would probably name the Vice President, or the Secretary of State or the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Not one out of ten would hit the bull's eye by naming the Secretary of Commerce.

Officially the Secretary of Commerce rates next to last in the Cabinet. He sits only one notch higher than the Secretary of Labor. But unofficially and actually, this relative obscure Cabinet job rates right next to Roosevelt—all due to the shrewdness of the man who sits in the Commerce chair — Jesse Holman Jones of Houston, Texas.

This is all because Jesse, when offered the job of Commerce Secretary, said he would take it only if permitted to remain as Federal Loan Administrator. And Roosevelt, thinking Congress would never approve, said Jesse could have both jobs if Congress passed a resolution to that effect.

And Congress — after some adroit back-slapping by Jesse — immediately passed the resolution. So now he not only sits in the Cabinet, but controls the purse strings of the greatest spending program ever undertaken by any government, in any country, at any time in history.

To get a faint idea of Jesse Jones' power, consider the fact that in normal times the Securities and Exchange Commission is busy passing on flotations of stocks and bonds for construction of new plants and all kinds of business expansion. But now the SEC is idle and Wall Street in the doldrums. All the plant expansion is financed by the Government. And Jesse Jones is the Czar who shells out the dough.

HOOVER HOLDOVER

Not many people realize it, but Jesse Jones is the only Roosevelt Cabinet member who is a holdover from the Hoover Administration. (Henry L. Stimson was brought into the Roosevelt Cabinet after serving under Hoover, but only after being out of office seven years.) It was Herbert Hoover who first appointed Jesse to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and there are many around the President who very sincerely believe that Jesse, today, still represents Herbert Hoover inside the Cabinet more than he represents the New Deal.

They like Jesse, because he is one of the most genial men in Washington; but they are convinced he had undone Roosevelt reforms—through his control of loans —faster than the President has been able to pass reforms through Congress.

Take, for instance, Jesse Jones' current contract with the Aluminum Corporation of America. No company has been more persistently prosecuted for old deal monopolistic practices than this giant corporate child of Andrew W. Mellon. It has even been indicted criminally for conspiring with Germany to limit magnesium—a material vital to the manufacture of airplanes. And every housewife has been asked to scrape together her old pot sand books at such a pace, but it would be an insult to reader and author to think of reading really good works so hastily.

Up early and glad of it for Fall sunshine is my delight. Toured the back yard and saw there signs of heavy frost during the night, but flowers still stood as bravely as soldiers. Thought they might make a nice mess of greens, but abandoned the idea after considering that it is not quite the modern thing to eat one's foes.

Wonder where will go the inheritance tax from the Harry Daugherty estate. Quite a sum that. Harry regarded himself as a Pickaway County resident and his last ballot was cast here. Our share of that tax might help some in easing the local financial difficulties.

G. R. Snyder, of Willsboro, Pa., dropped into the plant for a copy of the Pumpkin Show edition. Was here one day during the show and was so impressed by the event that he decided to take home with him all the information possible on the event. "The greatest thing of its kind I ever have seen and I hope that we can stage a similar show at home," he declared. Well, we hear the same story each year from visitors, and many towns attempt to stage an event like ours, but none has had any success as yet. Our show remains unique and is likely to remain so.

Chatted with some members of the football team over loss to Wilmington and did praise them for the fine game they played. Some criticism bobbed up because of the loss, but by what right do we sideline quarterbacks pop off? It was the first loss of the year for the kids, and if I remember correctly the Tigers lost every game played last year. Certainly they made mistakes Thursday night, but I have seen worse mistakes made in Big Ten football and even by professional teams.

While winning is pleasant it is by no means necessary. In this country we train the minds and bodies of our youths so that they may live, so that they may be able to stand on their own feet and contribute something to community, state and nation. Constant winners in my experience are generally spoiled brats. Ours are good kids. Yes, we seek to train our youngsters to live, while in Europe they are trained to die.

Break out that old Halloween costume and get ready to participate in the fun next Thursday night. A real time is ahead for all who join in the spirit of the day. The real fun, of course, is in actual participation, in being a kid again for a few hours. You are not so darned important nor is it at all beneath your dignity that you can not really join in such a festivity as the one planned here. You'll really have a good time and so will everyone else. You might even be funnier as you stand on the sidelines than you would be in costume at play. Why, there's an idea for me! Might even win a prize.

DIET AND HEALTH

Don't Backslide After Diet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

In beginning this second week of the second three-week period of the fall reducing diet, those who are still faithful to their observance of it must be beginning to realize the fun of being comparatively thin again. They must realize, too, that it would be folly and wastefulness to return to eating anything and everything in any quantity as soon as the diet period is over.

So plan now to get into the habit of keeping up a maintenance diet which will maintain your low weight level.

You should have learned by following these diets to plan your own. They are simply suggested as models, and to save you the trouble of planning three meals in detail. Any kind of substitution, so long as you preserve the spirit of the reducing diet, is all right.

Typical Foods to Avoid in Reduction Diets

Sugar and candy.

Starches, such as—bread, cereals, macaroni, spaghetti, pastry, pies, cakes.

Vegetables high in carbohydrates such as—potato, shell beans and beans, corn, parsnips.

Fats, such as—butter, salad oils, cream.

Ments high in fat—pork, lamb chops.

Eat Less

I am often asked what are thinning and reducing foods, or rather the form the question takes—is such or such an article of diet thinning?" The answer is—all foods have caloric value. No food is thinning if you take enough of it. In other words, the emphasis should be put on amount and not kind of food. But, of course, on account of their concentrated calories certain foods are more fattening than others. These are the fats—salad dressings, gravies, cream desserts, butter sauce, cream soups are the worst enemies; and the carbohydrates—sugar, candy, bread, potatoes, rice, etc.

1 broiled veal cutlet or veal chop—no breading.

Horoscope for Sunday

Gain from unexpected sources and through elders—perhaps by inheritance and beneficial changes are promised to those who have birthdays today. They should, however, curb a tendency to extravagance on an adornment and pleasure.

Born on this date, a child will be very tactful and diplomatic; also contemplative, precise, original, clever, industrious and affectionate. He or she will be inclined to over-generosity with lovers and friends.

One-Minute Test

1. What modern author is identified with Cape Cod through his books?

2. Name the author, now dead, of "The Land of Oz," "The Wizard of Oz," and other fairy tales.

3. Is an Irish potato Irish? Is it a potato?

Words of Wisdom

A reputation for good judgment, fair dealing, truth, and rectitude, is itself a fortune.—H. W. Beecher.

Today's Horoscope

Your business and love affairs forge ahead during the next year if your birthday is today. Gain comes through advertising, correspondence, agencies, and travel. Excessive expenditure on pleasure and friends of the opposite sex should be checked. An eventful life lies ahead of the young person born on this date. It will be full of adventure. Care will be advisable when near fire and water. Many love affairs involving monetary loss are foreseen.

DESTRUCTION

IS THIS vast madness and slaughter now spreading through the world an inevitable repetition? Must it continue recurring at intervals, like the tides? Is it a disease from which our modern civilization cannot escape? Is it inseparable from the Age of Power into which we have come? Must we use our new mastery of the forces of Nature to destroy what we have created?

We cannot accept any such deadly fatalism. What we have to do now is to destroy the destroyers, chief of whom is the mad genius that the most powerful nation on earth, except ours, is now following to hell.

HOME-BUILDING

ANY civilian building boom is now unlikely for some time, because other kinds of building are in order and materials are limited. Nevertheless private building will not stop. There will probably be a good deal of construction, especially of private homes, and according to an expert the patterns for them in a carefully supervised area are like this:

"Insistence is upon livability, marketability and architecture. Prescription of minimum depth for a house is out—judgment now is on architectural merit.

"New sections will be available upon which may be built the sort of houses people wish. For example, a smaller house on a wider lot, which looks like more money than is really invested in it. In one or two places where this was tried, the result was a revival of building."

By the way, an experienced real estate and building man says it is "cockeyed" for the federal authorities in this field to make a $6,000 house the limit, because costs and standards are so varied in different parts of the country. Thus a $6,000 house in the South, he explains, corresponds to a $10,000 house in the North.

HOW MANY "BEST BOOKS"?

THE Boston Herald Book Fair, which opened its doors for a six-day show on October 21, announced as part of its display the "1,000 best books of the year." It is probably easier to pick out 1,000 best books than 100 or 10, because it makes eligible good books in so many different categories.

But 1,000 books are a good many to hold simultaneously the title of "best." They make a discouraging pile for the person who doesn't try to read all the current books but only the cream of the new output. A thousand books a year would keep the most intrepid and insatiable reader busy. It is a little more than two books a day, right around the calendar. It might be possible to skim second rate books at such a pace, but it would be an insult to reader and author to think of reading really good works so hastily.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

JESSE JONES MOST POWERFUL

WASHINGTON—If you gave the average voter three guesses as to who is the most powerful man in the government next to Roosevelt, he would probably name the Vice President, or the Secretary of State or the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Not one out of ten would hit the bull's eye by naming the Secretary of Commerce.

Officially the Secretary of Commerce rates next to last in the Cabinet. He sits only one notch higher than the Secretary of Labor. But unofficially and actually, this relative obscure Cabinet job rates right next to Roosevelt—all due to the shrewdness of the man who sits in the Commerce chair → Jesse Holman Jones of Houston, Texas.

This is all because Jesse, when offered the job of Commerce Secretary, said he would take it only if permitted to remain as Federal Loan Administrator. And Roosevelt, thinking Congress would never approve, said Jesse could have both jobs if Congress passed a resolution to that effect.

And Congress — after some adroit back-slapping by Jesse — immediately passed the resolution. So now he not only sits in the Cabinet, but controls the purse strings of the greatest spending program ever undertaken by any government, in any country, at any time in history.

To get a faint idea of Jesse Jones' power, consider the fact that in normal times the Securities and Exchange Commission is busy passing on flotations of stocks and bonds for construction of new plants and all kinds of business expansion. But now the SEC is idle and Wall Street is in the doldrums. All the plant expansion is financed by the Government. And Jesse Jones is the Czar who shells out the dough.

HOOVER HOLDOVER

Not many people realize it, but Jesse Jones is the only Roosevelt Cabinet member who is a holdover from the Hoover Administration. (Henry L. Stimson was brought into the Roosevelt Cabinet after serving under Hoover, but only after being out of office seven years.) It was Herbert Hoover who first appointed Jesse to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and there are many around the President who very sincerely believe that Jesse, today, still represents Herbert Hoover inside the Cabinet more than he represents the New Deal.

They like Jesse, because he is one of the most genial men in Washington; but they are convinced he had undone Roosevelt reforms—through his control of loans—faster than the President has been able to pass reforms through Congress.

Take, for instance, Jesse Jones' current contract with the Aluminum Corporation of America. No company has been more persistently prosecuted for old deal monopolistic practices than this giant corporate child of Andrew W. Mellon. It has been indicted criminally for conspiring with Germany to limit magnesium—a material vital to the manufacture of airplanes. And every housewife has been asked to scrape together her old pot sand

FIGHTING TIGERS REACH SEASON'S HALF-WAY MARK

As Circleville high school's football season reaches its half-way mark, fans are swelled with pride. Our football team was the interest of the moment as it swung into its second half of the season Thursday night at Wilmington.

Circleville has won three games,

from West Jefferson, Hillsboro, and Bremen, holding Greenfield to a tie, 0-0.

Although three varsity men are on the casualty list, the team has come through "with flying colors". Norman Anderson, Robert Kline, and John Woods have experienced injuries which took them out of the line-up, but they will probably see some action before the season ends.

An outstanding factor in this year's team is the cooperation and spirit the team has. Each of the eleven men on the field take part in each play and all are the "heroes" of the game.

"Announcing new opportunities for high school and college graduates, Fifth Corps Area Headquarters, Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio, said that during the 1941-42 school year more than 5,000 Army Aviation Cadet Officer training scholarships and 600 Enlisted Pilot scholarships would be awarded to Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana students. Last year only 2,270 Aviation Cadet scholarships were offered.

"Although educational requirements for pilot candidates have been modified, officials said that the party would begin at 6:45 and that no one will be admitted unless masked. She also announced that there will be prizes for the two best costumes.

"Enlisted pilot scholarships are open to unmarried male high school graduates with at least one and one-half units of mathematics who are at least 18 years old and not yet 23. Applicants must be able to pass the physical examination for pilots and enlist in the Army Air Forces for three years before making application. At the end of the 35-week course, graduates are offered flight sergeants and draw a minimum of $105 monthly, plus living expenses.

"Aviation Cadet scholarships, each valued at $25,000, are available to pilot prospects and to flying or non-flying specialists. Physical examinations for specialists are less rigid than for pilots, but all candidates must be unmarried, male American citizens at least 20 years old and not yet 27. Cadets draw $105 monthly, plus equipment, lodging and clothing. Upon graduation they are commissioned second lieutenants in the Army Air Force Reserve and Army minimum flying salaries of $245 monthly, plus a $500 annual bonus.

"Two full years of college credit in any subjects qualify candidates without educational examination. Those who have specialized in mathematics usually can qualify with only one year of college.

"The new examination covering subjects taught in most high schools, embraces English, arithmetic, algebra, plane geometry and trigonometry and five optional subjects from which two may be elected. Electives are modern languages (Spanish, French, German, etc.), physics, chemistry, American history and general history. One semester of college work in any of these subjects usually grants an examination exemption with a grade of 80 in that subject. An average grade of 70 is required.

"Navigation specialist scholarships are offered to youths who have completed at least two years of college credit with mathematics to include algebra, geometry and trigonometry. Engineering scholarships are available to those with senior standing in engineering college.

At the meeting, Coach Samuel R. Johnson and various members of the debate team analyzed several phases of the affirmative side of the topic. The question for debate this year is: "Resolved: That Every Able Bodied Male Citizen in the United States Should Be Required to Have One Year of Full-Time Military Training before Attaining the Present Draft Age."

This week there was no meeting because school was not in session Friday since the teachers went to Dayton to the Central Ohio Teachers' Association meeting.

She's Queen, Journalists Say

FIGHTING TIGERS REACH SEASON'S HALF-WAY MARK

As Circleville high school's football season reaches its half-way mark, fans are swelled with pride. Our football team was the interest of the moment as it swung into its second half of the season Thursday night at Wilmington.

Circleville has won three games, from West Jefferson, Hillsboro, and Bremen, holding Greenfield to a tie, 0-0.

Although three varsity men are on the casualty list, the team has come through "with flying colors". Norman Anderson, Robert Kline, and John Woods have experienced injuries which took them out of the line-up, but they will probably see some action before the season ends.

An outstanding factor in this year's team is the cooperation and spirit the team has. Each of the eleven men on the field take part in each play and all are the "heroes" of the game.

SENIOR RESERVE TO BE HONORED

Junior Girl Reserve meeting, Thursday, began by discussing buying Junior Girl Reserve pins. Members wishing pins must hand in their money to Betty Lou Boggs by Wednesday.

"Announcing new opportunities for high school and college graduates, Fifth Corps Area Headquarters, Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio, said that during the 1941-42 school year more than 5,000 Army Aviation Cadet Officer training scholarships and 600 Enlisted Pilot scholarships would be awarded to Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana students. Last year only 2,270 Aviation Cadet scholarships were offered.

"Although educational requirements for pilot candidates have been modified, officials said that the new requirements continue to emphasize mathematics.

"Enlisted pilot scholarships are open to unmarried male high school graduates with at least one and one-half units of mathematics who are at least 18 years old and not yet 23. Applicants must be able to pass the physical examination for pilots and enlist in the Army Air Forces for three years before making application. At the end of the 35-week course, graduates are rated flight sergeants and draw a minimum of $100 monthly, plus living expenses.

"Junior Girl Reserve cabinet will meet Tuesday and the regular club meeting will be Wednesday evening.

Junior Girl Reserves will attend the Presbyterian Church at 10:15 Sunday.

JUNIORS SELECT CLASS JEWELRY

Final decision as to class jewelry—rings, bracelets, necklaces, and pins—are made by the juniors at a meeting Thursday afternoon.

Fred Watts, class adviser, and the committee in charge urge all juniors desiring to purchase jewelry to place their orders as soon as possible. If all cooperate in this matter the manufacturer will deliver the pins and rings before Christmas.

At the Bremen-Circleville football game, the Junior class continued its money-making projects by taking care of the food booth and holding a "V Dance" after the game. Juniors will have the food booth and hold another dance next Friday, October 31, at the Washington-Circleville football game.

APPEALS COURT JUDGES TO HEAR WRIGHT'S PLEA

Dayton Man, Convicted Of Manslaughter, Fights
Jury's Decision

TWO OTHER SUITS PEND

District Barristers Come
To Circleville Next
Wednesday

Three cases will come before the Court of Appeals when it convenes Wednesday at 9 a. m. in the Pickaway County Courtroom.

Most celebrated is the Andrew Mack Wright case. Wright has been convicted of second degree manslaughter and is free from jail under bond. The case developed as the result of an auto wreck in which a Circleville couple, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and Catherine Stapleton, was killed in a collision with Wright's car on Route 56 south of the city. The Dayton motorist is appealing his case from Common Pleas Court where he was found guilty of manslaughter.

Mrs. David O. Fuller of Cincinnati will seek settlement of her case with Ambrose E. Moul, Circleville Route 5, administrator of the estate of her late husband. The case originally was filed in Probate Court where Mrs. Fuller took exceptions to the final account in the settlement of her husband's estate, and is asking for a portion of the estate. Mr. Moul is making the settlement, claims that in separation agreement signed between Mrs. Fuller and her husband, she relinquished certain property rights and therefore was not entitled to a full share in the proceeds of the estate. Judge Lemuel Weldon ruled in favor of the administrator and Mrs. Fuller appealed her cause to the higher court.

Another property settlement dispute will come before the court in the Noah A. Ernest versus Weldon Heffner case. The action to quiet title has been in the courts for some time and concerns the right of ownership of 134 acres of land in Washington Township. Weldon Heffner, Stoutsburg, a nephew of the plaintiff, claims certain rights to the Washington Township farm.

Appeals Court judges are Russell McCurdy, Roy Gillen and Verner Metcalf.

F. D. TO INVOKE WORK OR FIGHT ORDER ON LEWIS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 — The government was reported ready today to issue a "work or fight" order under the draft law if John L. Lewis, head of the CIO's United Mine Workers Union, spurns President Roosevelt's plea to postpone a strike of 53,000 miners tonight in the captive coal mines that feed the steel mills of the nation.

President Roosevelt intervened in the case to back up the recommendations of the National Defense Mediation Board, which has been trying to settle the "union shop" dispute between the UMW and owners of the captive pits, owned by big steel corporations. With the union shop the sole issue, the mediation board recommended that a truce under which the mines have been operating the last 36 days be indefinitely continued.

Meanwhile, it proposed two alternate plans for arbitration. The board agreed to pass on the union shop issue if the miners and coal operators promised in advance to accept its decision. As an alternate plan, the board recommended that the policy of the old war labor board in 1917 be followed. Under it, a joint board of miners and operators would be set up. If deadlocked, the board would select an arbiter and agree to abide by his decision.

FIVE U. S. ARMY PARADE, PRIZES PLANES MISSING OF OVER $100 ON WEST COAST ARE FEATURES

Units Of Pursuit Ship Flight Lost During Routine Journey

Ceiling at Zero

The multiple crashes occurred during adverse flying conditions. A murky fog hanging low over interior California brought the ceiling to zero. It was also held responsible for scattering the flight of pursuit ships which had taken off from March Field, near Riverside, for Sacramento with three hours fuel supply.

Killer near Fairfield in the crash of the bomber which had taken off from Hamilton Field for its home base at Fort Douglas, near Salt Lake City, were:

Capt. Franklin S. Nelson, 34, former airline pilot of Salt Lake City.

Second Lieut. E. F. Sell, 24, copilot, of Lander, Wyo.

Technical Sgt. Andrew Zeik, 38, Salt Lake City.

Technical Sgt. Robert M. Kinney, 32, Salt Lake City.

Private First Class John W. Phillips, 23, of Salt Lake City.

Missing from the pursuit squadron somewhere over the Tehachapi Mountains was Lieut. J. H. Pease. His leap was witnessed by another pilot of the flight, Lieut. E. F. Carey of Hampton, Va.

Reporting at McClellan Field with orders to continue to Washington and Oregon were Lieutenants Carey, Frank Mears, Albert Aiken, Dilby and Clark.

Some Accounted For

Accounted for in the forced landing at Yerington were Maj. C. E. Hughes, flight leader, Capt. Peter McGoldrich, Lieutenants Truax, Thomas, Radovich, Speckman, Fairland and Matthews.

Army authorities said another ship had made a successful landing at Tulare. It was piloted by Lt. Scott.

McClellan field authorities identified the five missing pilots as Pease and Lieutenants Long, Birrell, Best and Tydon.

Neither the first names nor home addresses were immediately available.

In the belief that the missing ships were down in the vicinity of Bakersfield, planes will take off from the Army's Lerdo Field at that city to make the first search today.

As the fire spread rapidly, company fire fighters were pressed into service and two other alarms were sounded later. The fireboats William Gaynor, Abram S. Hewitt and Firefighter also were sent to the scene.

No Sabotage Hinted

Although authorities said sabotage was not involved, it was reported that the FBI as well as city police and company officials would open an immediate investigation.

Crews of the two ships, numbering between 200 and 300 men, were aboard the vessels at the time of the fire, but no one was reported injured.

The superstructure and lifeboats of the F. W. Abrams were burned, while the Empire Coral escaped with a scorching.

The tanker entered the Robins yard on Monday for a general overhauling and the freighter entered Wednesday at the completion of its maiden voyage from England.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cox and family, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Noble and family were Sunday dinner guests at the Roy Sharp home.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Smith and children visited Friday evening at the Fred Height home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cannan of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kittrell, sons Harold and Charles Edward and Tommy Bookman of Gloucester spent Sunday at the C. L. Kittrell home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Waits of Lancaster were Sunday evening callers at the Arthur Mangan home. Mrs. Blanche Myers called Monday.

The Germans Pressing Heavy Offensive Against Southern Area

Mozhaisk and Maloyaroslavets sectors outside Moscow, adding:

"The Germans hurled a tremendous number of tanks into a sanguinary engagement and the main road was blasted for many hours. During that time the shells of Soviet guns literally set fire to every yard of ground on which the Germans were moving.

"Following the most intense fighting, the enemy managed to lodge a battalion supported by tanks, in our lines. But the Soviet forces daringly counter-attacked and repulsed the Germans, who left many dead behind."

A supplementary Soviet war bulletin said the air force continued to inflict tremendous blows on enemy aviation, tanks, infantry and gun positions.

In a week's operations, it said, one Red air force unit on the Orel Front destroyed 48 tanks, 225 ammunition trucks, 18 armored cars, 12 guns and several oil tanks and also decimated two enemy battalions.

The communiqué also claimed Russian guerrillas operating in German-occupied districts of the Leningrad area are "disorganizing the enemy's rear," wrecking an armored train, cutting miles of telephone wire, raiding horse transport facilities and destroying munition carriers.

According to a Moscow radio broadcast, the Communist newspaper Pravda reported that south of Maloyaroslavets the Germans pushed back defending Russian units at two points.

The Russians are now "improving their positions" in this area, Pravda said.

The fire broke out on pier which were tied two floating dry docks Nos. 4 and 6 containing the Standard Oil Tanker F. W. Abrams and the British freighter Empire Coral. The blaze was discovered by Patrolman Herbert Elder, who while patrolling his beat, saw smoke and flames within the yards.

Early information on the fire was conflicting due to the fact that all reporters were kept at a distance from the yards by New York City and company police. The Robins firm has been engaged in defense work.

The fireboats William Gaynor, Abram S. Hewitt and Firefighter also were sent to the scene.

Yesterday, the Russian radio said the Soviet air force destroyed 70 tanks and armored cars, 200 trucks, two German infantry battalions and two anti-aircraft batteries.

The broadcast said the Germans are now bringing up reserves in preparation for a "decisive battle."

Earlier, with Premier Josef Stalin reported in direct personal charge of the defense of Moscow, the Soviet radio said the Germans had been driven from three villages northwest of the capital.

The case originally was filed in Probate Court where Mrs. Fuller took exceptions to the final account in the settlement of her husband's estate, and is asking for a portion of the estate. Mr. Moule is making the settlement, claims that is separation agreement signed between Mrs. Fuller and her husband, she relinquished certain property rights and therefore was not entitled to a full share in the proceeds of the estate. Judge Lemuel Weldon ruled in favor of the administrator and Mrs. Fuller appealed her cause to the higher court.

Another property settlement dispute will come before the court in the Noah A. Ernest versus Weldon Heffner case. The action to quiet title has been in the courts for some time and concerns the right of ownership of 134 acres of land in Washington Township. Weldon Heffner, Stoutsville, a nephew of the plaintiff, claims certain rights to the Washington Township farm.

Appeals Court judges are Russell McCurdy, Roy Gillen and Verner Metcalf.

F. D. TO INVOKE WORK OR FIGHT ORDER ON LEWIS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 — The government was reported ready today to issue a "work or fight" order under the draft law if John L. Lewis, head of the CIO's United Mine Workers Union, spurns President Roosevelt's plea to postpone a strike of 53,000 miners tonight in the captive coal mines that feed the steel mills of the nation.

President Roosevelt intervened in the case to back up the recommendations of the National Defense Mediation Board, which has been trying to settle the "union shop" dispute between the UMW and owners of the captive pits, owned by big steel corporations. With the union shop the sole issue, the mediation board recommended that a truce under which the mines have been operating the last 36 days be indefinitely continued.

Meanwhile, it proposed two alternate plans for arbitration. The board agreed to pass on the union shop issue if the miners and coal operators promised in advance to accept its decision. As an alternate plan, the board recommended that the policy of the old war labor board in 1917 be followed. Under it, a joint board of miners and operators would be set up. If deadlocked, the board would select an arbiter and agree to abide by his decision.

Others at Zero

The multiple crashes occurred during adverse flying conditions. A murky fog hanging low over interior California brought the ceiling to zero. It was also held responsible for scattering the flight of pursuit ships which had taken off from March Field, near Riverside, for Sacramento with three hours fuel supply.

Killer near Fairfield in the crash of the bomber which had taken off from Hamilton Field for its home base at Fort Douglas, near Salt Lake City, were:

Capt. Franklin S. Nelson, 34, former airline pilot of Salt Lake City.

Second Lieut. E. F. Sell, 24, copilot, of Lander, Wyo.

Technical Sgt. Andrew Zeik, 38, Salt Lake City.

Technical Sgt. Robert M. Kinney, 32, Salt Lake City.

Private First Class John W. Phillips, 23, of Salt Lake City.

Missing from the pursuit squadrons somewhere over the Tehachapi Mountains was Lieut. J. H. Pease. His leap was witnessed by another pilot of the flight, Lieut. E. F. Carey of Hampton, Va.

Some Accounted For

McClellan field authorities identified the five missing pilots as Pease and Lieutenants Long, Birrell, Best and Tydon.

Neither the first names nor home addresses were immediately available.

In the belief that the missing ships were down in the vicinity of Bakersfield, planes will take off from the Army's Lerdo Field at that city to make the first search today.

As the fire spread rapidly, company fire fighters were pressed into service and two other alarms were sounded later. The fireboats William Gaynor, Abram S. Hewitt and Firefighter also went to the scene.

No Sabotage Hinted

The fire broke out on a pier to which were tied two floating drydocks Nos. 4 and 6 containing the Standard Oil Tanker F. W. Abrams and the British freighter Empire Coral. The blaze was discovered by Patrolman Herbert Elder, who while patrolling his beat, saw smoke and flames within in the yards.
